RetroBlue Connect

About Us

Rooted in our core values at LCO is the recognition and solving of industry wide challenges. Through innovation and optimization we create products that will not only provide a modernization of your existing assets but allow for the cost effective integration of technology with both familiarity and reliability that your operations require.

One Kit Has It All

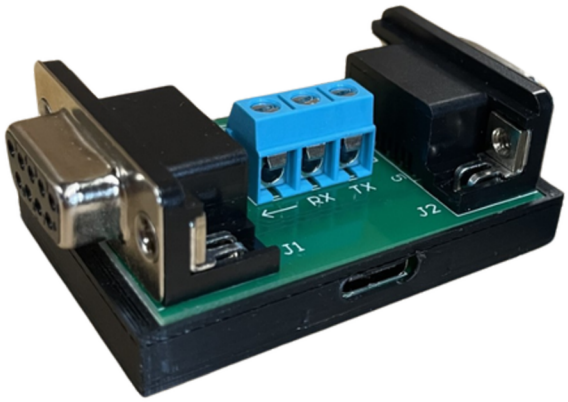

Common accessory cables, renaming tools, and programming tools are all included in the RetroBlue Connect Kit. One purchase is all you need to connect this device to nearly every outlet available.

A Wireless Connection

No more pesky wires, no more tangled cables. RetroBlue Connect offers all the benefits of a modern computer without the hassle of replacing old equipment or extracting data from ancient technology.

No Power Necessary

Forget the days of batteries and recharging stations. With self-sustaining properties and minimal power consumption, our product offers the convenience of Bluetooth without the need for external power. Just set it and forget it and the RetroBlue Connect will handle the rest.
